Concorde Wireless LAN Driver 6.21 Serial number: .Q: Difference in usage of "emotion" and "feeling" If I ask someone 'do you feel sad?' they can either say yes or no. I use it to indicate whether someone is sad/happy/angry... But if I ask 'do you feel like crying?' they can't say yes or no. I use it to indicate that they are having some sort of emotions, but they don't feel like crying. Why is the word 'emotion' used here while the word 'feeling' is used in the above sentence? A: In order for a person to say that they are having some sort of emotion, that person must actually experience the emotion. It's not the same as in the second example; you're not asking about the emotion itself. It's not about your feelings, it's about theirs.
