What's new:

Just got the game a few days ago. I'm in love with the game overall however, i have an issue with the crafting system in which you have to have an item in your chest when equipping a component in order to gain access to items from the chest at the warehouse (farm). For instance, zeny has to item be in your chest in order for you to have access to the machine shop crafting machine, and 1,000 steel. However, if I had sufficient zeny to be able to buy in excess of 1,000 steel at once, I would have enough to purchase the components for the crafting machine right away. So, if that item was armor, and I was missing the leather, I can't equip the leather without zeny, but I have the leather and i am putting the zeny in the chest, that may not be what should be happening. So when I equip the armor, I have that item in my chest, but my ability to output items from the warehouse is using my leather as a parameter. If that doesn't make sense, that is all. I have been going back and forth on some of the quests, and I have not given up on this game, but I want to play the crafting the way I want. If you have a specific chest/enchantment item that you could not get to in a character build if it was in a store house. Then I'd see if you can petition for that to be added later in the game or if you can modify your current way of doing things. It's the best way that I can think of things being done. Right now, you need the item in your chest(storehouse in the tutorial) so you can gain access to the crafting system and spawn in a vehicle or mount. You can check your stocking levels(stays on screen when you click on them) before you leave your storehouse to make sure that you can enter your destination. I'm using 'programming' with the components to make sure that all chests and storehouses have that feature implemented into their code so I can get the storehouse to be functional while logged in (therefore not requiring any inventory clicking to gain access while in the middle of the game). Using this method, you can remove the need to have the blueprint in your inventory while you are logged in. I can provide some direct quotes from the source code to show you what I'm using. I can't provide any 3-diphenyl-3-pyrazolylamine (also known as N-[3-(4-chlorophenyl)-3-oxopropyl]-N-methyl-3-diphenyl-3-pyrazolylamine) is a ligand of an ATP-sensitive potassium channel ($Kir6.2/SUR1$) that regulates insulin secretion in the pancreas. $Kir6.2/SUR1$ is a part of the ATP-sensitive potassium channel (KATP channel) expressed in pancreatic β cells. Activation of this channel will depolarize the plasma membrane. ATP-sensitive potassium channels facilitate potassium efflux. This will hyperpolarize the cell membrane and open voltage-dependent $Ca2+$ channels resulting in an increase in intracellular $Ca2+$ concentration. This will lead to an increased cytosolic free $Ca2+$ concentration and insulin secretion.Q: How to disable automatic "-c" in bash command? I use urxvt terminal, and I can't find the option to disable the -c option, "customize the shell options". Is there a way to stop bash from running the -c option? A: You need to run bash --noprofile instead of bash (for example). See --noprofile man page. --noprofile Do not load system-wide profile files.
