"Based on the extensive motion capture data of the players, we have developed a new gaming engine in FIFA 22, combining technical knowledge and data from real players with technological developments. This promises to revolutionize the creation of unique and authentic game experiences," said Alex Kosala, Head of FIFA Game Development. Some of the enhancements to the engine: - Match Quality: The game engine is run at 30 frames per second, with new animations for all players and action, more detailed player collision responses, improved player visual details and improved surface detail. - Visual Effects: Real-time lighting, reflective shadows, more detailed grass and replay angles, and enhanced smoke and particle effects are among the visual effects. - Player Physics: Players respond more accurately to momentum changes, such as headers and off-ball running; collisions with goalkeepers and defenders create animations that are more accurate and dynamic. "FIFA 20 was a big step forward for FIFA, with the introduction of facial animations, and with FIFA 22 we are going even further to the next level," said David Rutter, General Manager of EA Canada. "Our community played a huge role in helping us improve the engine and now we are looking forward to the feedback from the players. We are also introducing new ways to watch the matches." In "Ultimate Team" mode, a new "Football Intelligence" scoring metric measures how a player performs in certain situations. In "New Striker" mode, a new coach mode allows experienced coaches to take over a player's career and try to improve his or her skill. See the FIFA 22 gameplay trailer here: FOOTBALL BUILDINGS UEFA official stadiums are now in the game, and you can select from Premier League and Bundesliga stadiums.
