Frank Zampino, the former mayor of Mississauga, Ontario, once boasted of “never having a single political scandal while I was in office” — and that included being investigated by provincial police. When he resigned the mayorship in 2006, it was because of his misuse of public funds, a probe that led to a scathing report into the mayor's conduct. But it ended up doing nothing, partly because the prosecutor who was to prosecute was removed from the case after making public comments critical of her own boss. We apologize, but this video has failed to load. tap here to see other
