Flappatron: Episode 4 (Chapters 11 - 13)

Game Description: Flappatron: The game closely resembles the well known game 'Color Sniper' and is all about using different colors to shoot your way through enemy groups so you can become the champion! Flappatron belongs to the so-called Angry Birds-style-games; among others 'Color Invaders', 'Color Sniper' and 'Color Plate Wars'. However, it represents a new and unique type of playing that differs from other Angry Birds games and works on a slightly different principle. Now the game is an exact representation of the Flappatron-character. The game is all about playing a game of Color-Sniping and using different colors to achieve out-of-the-frame goals. Each group contains tiles. Your goal is to get all the targets within the radius. The player aims to kill the group of birds by color. Birds in each group contain a special color or combination of colors in common. There are three-four special color tiles in common, which allow the bird to fire automatic. Single tile firing is done with three red shots. The opening panorama shows the player on his first training mission with a church as scenery. In this presentation the player is almost defeated by several white birds. The next scene shows him successfully restoring this group of birds to get them back to the missions. A later scene introduces the player as such a well-trained animal. He kills two animals back-to-back without ceasing to aim. The death of his carrier is immediately followed by an SDF carrier mission, directed at BOSS. Here this hero captures the boss of this land of Alponga within about a dozen shots. During his time on this land, he receives special assistances from 3 bird helpers. To improve his skills, he is sent to a training base. After completion, the player is able to retrieve his colored world of Flappatron! Lost, he is now far from home, but far from being defeated. To his aid once again the three helpers of Flappatron, which have now reached their new home, the Untersturm

"I want you to go back to the beginning and tell me again who I am and who I want to be." -Nathan Thorne Whilst this patch has little bearing on the main game, it will, as usual, come with an in-depth story of its own, full of the twists and turns that made Nathan's game so special. This patch features gameplay enhancements, including: Action focused character progression system for all your characters: as you play the game, new events will be displayed for you to experience and uncover. These give you the option to complete certain goals, or stay and learn what happens to Nathan himself. As such, a part of the game will change when you play it. The impact that this has on you depends on the character that you play and which chapter you complete - progress is made based on your choices, but not necessarily in the way you might expect. Saving: all player options can be saved at any point, allowing you to reset the game and start again if you wish. Encounters: new NPCs will be introduced into the game who will react differently depending on whether or not Nathan is still alive. This will provide for new scenarios and progress, and new characters to play with! The new chapter "The Interrupted Journey" contains a brand new story, which goes where Nathan's journey did not! Three new survivors have also been added, each with their own character play style and motivations: Bea, as you may expect, is a quiet, unassuming nurse, and perhaps one of the better people you could hope to find in an island full of (mostly) psychopaths. As such, she's determined

>chuckling< Flappatron: Though I did have the help of Grim X and the gang. Linutocougar: The five "gang"?
Flappatron: Yup, Black Cat, Artemis Fowl, I could always call the Stay Puft Marshmallow Man, and the Count (with the head on top). Linutocougar: Indeed. Roxy: Black cat, count, Stay pate, marshmallow man...oh well, in any case, that was creepy; the very definition of a Type A personality... Errol Flynn:...though by all means, this is not the way of the Leopard. Roxy: And it is an abomination against the hero. Flappatron: Was that quote, "the very definition of a Type A personality" from "Casey Jones", starring Errol Flynn? Because I don't think I've ever heard it before. Flappatron: Alright, make sure you pay attention at the end of the episode! Linutocougar: I shall endeavour to do so... Flappatron: Alright, good luck, do try! End [back to main menu] Flappatron: "The End" was a marvellous adventure! Please do enjoy reading the other episodes. Flappatron: It is called a "shinigami no kamikakushi". It is called a "dream shanghai". Flappatron: It has threatened to destroy the world...but it has no care for its own destruction. Flappatron: From the age of six, I wrote down the name of the place. Flappatron: I took these notes from six to seven years old. And so they are not precise. Flappatron: And these are the methods my mother and father passed on to me. Flappatron: The time period, the place, the three names... Flappatron: "Cooper and Sons + Black Dragon"
